Article 7. Rates and costs

- 7.1. When the agreement is concluded, the rates payable by the Client are determined; this may be on the basis of a price fixed in advance or on the basis of subsequent costing. If the agreed period within which the order must be completed is exceeded by more than three months through no fault of the contractor, the price shall still be determined on a subsequent costing basis, whereby the originally agreed amount shall apply as a guide.
- 7.2. Contractor shall be entitled to adjust the rates annually. Contractor is also entitled to change the rates in the interim if the job evaluation, costs and/or prices on which the rates are based give cause to do so.
- 7.3. Third-party costs incurred by the Contractor under the Agreement will be charged separately.
- 7.4. In addition to the rates referred to in article 7.1, the Client must pay additional costs. These include, but are not limited to, postage and photocopying costs, costs of third parties reasonably engaged in the execution of the Agreement and travel costs incurred by the Contractor in the execution of the Agreement.
- 7.5. All fees are exclusive of turnover tax or other government levies, unless stated otherwise.

Article 10. Invoicing and payment

- 10.2. Objections to the amount of the invoices do not suspend the payment obligation. Payment must be made without discount or offsetting.
- 10.3. The Contractor is always entitled to require the Client to make an advance payment or to provide security in some other way.
- 10.4. If the agreed payment term is exceeded, the Client is in default without notice of default and must pay the statutory commercial interest plus 3% per month (whereby periods shorter than one month are regarded as full months) to the Contracted Party. In addition, all actual costs of collection (both judicial and extrajudicial) shall be borne by Client.
- 10.5. Each payment made by the Client serves first of all to settle any costs and interest owed, and subsequently to settle the longest outstanding payable invoices.
- 10.6. The Contractor is entitled to suspend the issue of goods until all outstanding invoices have been settled by the Client.

Article 11. Termination and cancellation

- 11.1. A fixed-term agreement cannot be terminated prematurely. If the Client nevertheless terminates the agreement in the interim, it shall be obliged to pay the fee based on the full term of the agreement, as well as any costs already incurred in connection with that.

- 11.5. The following also applies to courses:
  - a. in the event of being prevented from attending, a colleague may replace the participant;
  - b. cancellation is possible in writing or by e-mail up to two weeks before the start of the course and on payment of €100 administration costs (or €50 if the course is still followed at a later date). If cancelled or postponed within two weeks before the start of the course, the full course amount is due;
  - c. The Contractor reserves the right to reschedule the course if the number of participants is too low.
- 11.6. If the agreement is dissolved, the claims of Contractor on Client are immediately due and payable. If the Contractor suspends fulfilment of its obligations, it shall retain its claims under the law and the Agreement.

- 13.3. A complaint does not suspend the Client's payment obligation.

Article 14. Liability and limitation period

- 14.1. Contractor shall only be liable for failures in the performance of the agreement if, despite a written notice of default (including a reasonable period for performance), Contractor fails to act or fails to act promptly as may be expected of a reasonably competent contractor. Contractor shall be similarly liable for third parties engaged by Contractor in the execution of the agreement.
- 14.2. Should the Contractor be liable, then this liability will be limited to the amount paid out by the Contractor's insurer. If the insurer makes no payment, then the Contracted Party's liability is limited to the amount charged by the Contractor to the Client over the last three months for the work to which the liability relates, with a maximum of € 10,000.

- 19.2. If the Contractor violates the foregoing provision, the Contractor will forfeit from the Client an immediately payable penalty, without notice of default being required, of € 100,000 plus € 1,000 for each day or part of a day that the violation continues after notice of default has been issued, without prejudice to the Contracted Party's right to claim performance or additional compensation.

Article 22. Samples

- 22.1. Samples or materials supplied shall be in such a condition that it is possible for the employees of Contractor to perform the analytical work. Contractor is entitled to carry out a preliminary investigation into the condition of the samples or materials before proceeding to process the samples, to draw up a report or to start the production. The costs of this preliminary examination shall be borne by Client if the samples or materials do not meet the requirements to be set for it. If the samples or materials do not meet the requirements - irrespective of whether a preliminary investigation has been conducted - Contractor is entitled to cancel the order or to suspend its execution, in which case the costs incurred by Contractor up to that point shall be for the Client's account.
- 22.2. Samples offered for analysis by or on behalf of the Client must be properly packed and preserved and provided with clear information relating to the samples. The Client bears full responsibility for the correct manner of preserving the sample offered, as well as for its selection, representativeness and quality.
- 22.3. If a sample offered may have dangerous characteristics, the Client must ensure that this is clearly communicated to the Contractor when the sample is offered, including on the packaging. The damage shall also include consequential damage.
- 22.4. Contractor will store the goods offered for examination or the remnants thereof, if possible, for 2 weeks after the reporting date of the examination. Any costs related to this are included in the price stated in the order. The contractor shall be entitled to retain goods, documents and the like as security for as long as the principal fails to meet his obligations.
- 22.5. Orders are executed under the conditions available to Contractor and in accordance with the techniques and methods developed and generally applied by Contractor at the time of execution. The results may not always be one hundred percent accurate. Analyses, interpretations, assessments, advice and conclusions are drawn up in accordance with the standards of care that apply in business, but the Contractor cannot guarantee that they will always be absolute.

- 22.6. The Contractor is not liable for the loss of or damage to samples if this is not demonstrably due to any act or omission on the part of or by the Contractor. The Contractor shall have the right to handle and process samples at its own discretion for the purpose of implementing the Agreement.
- 22.7. The results of an analysis, advice and/or relevant information relating to the order will be reported to the Client by the Contractor in writing. - 22.8. Research results may be made available through a web portal. If this is done, the results will not be final until the analysis values have been reported. Until that time, the Contractor reserves the right to adjust the analysis results. Results will never be issued before the time indicated in the NEN standard of the analysis requested in order to guarantee freedom from pressure. Objections to test results can be submitted by the Client within 3 days after receipt of those results. However, the costs of a repeated analysis or assessment shall be borne by the Client, unless it appears that the results of the repeated analysis do not correspond to those of the first analysis. Furthermore, a repeated analysis is only possible if Contractor has sufficient original sample material in stock at the moment the objection of Client is received.
- 22.9. The analyses, recommendations and/or other information produced by Contractor may only and exclusively be used by Client for his own purposes. Any further or other use by Client towards third parties will be at Client's own risk.
